Help: I used this & it made my pictures smaller but now a big white box is showing up where my resized pictures were saying that it was only temporary.

You attempted to "hotlink" a file.    When you resize with resizr, the program will let you download the image for a short period of time.    If you wish to share the image with others using resizr, then you need to use the program's "Share This Image" function.

You have to take this extra step because we handle lots of files, and we delete them to save space unless you let us know you want us to save it!
